

Information for Rally Australia Spectators and Visitors

To enjoy the rally and the Coffs Coast you will need to take some simple precautions.

November weather can be hot; sunburn is common and easily avoided with sunscreen use and by wearing a hat and wearing light, loose clothing.

Always stay well hydrated by drinking plenty of cool fluids, preferably water. Avoid alcohol as this will cause dehydration.

Being late spring there are also a greater number of insects that may cause discomfort or illness. The use of personal insect repellent is recommended to avoid being bitten by mosquitoes or ticks.

Be aware that snakes may be found in the bush around the rally stages. Wear suitable sturdy enclosed footwear when spectating at the event and avoid unnecessary walking through scrub to minimise the risk from both snakes and ticks.

Going to the event take:

- A hat
